THE CALL

DO animals communicate with each other by their own kind of radio? There's no other way to explain the mysterious love call of the caribou, a species of reindeer found in the Far North.

The caribou sexes never mingle except during mating season. At other times of the year, the males wander in great herds in the Yukon and Alaska. Far away to the east, over toward the Hudson Bay country, roam the females.

As winter approaches, the females begin looking westward, the males eastward. They separated by hundreds of miles, the mating call passes between them by some instinct like radio. The herds gallop until they meet, to mingle during the mating and rearing season, thereafter to separate until next year.

Artist Satterfield, in the accompanying pen-picture, shows a caribou answering the call of the Animal Radio. A better name for it is Telepathy.

MAYO ON NEWSPAPERS

IF the newspapers would devote as much space to constructive medical articles as they do to items featuring freak medical performances, their readers would find more profit in reading them," says Dr. Charles Mayo, the famous surgeon of Rochester, Minn., and he adds that the gland treatment is mostly humorous," says the Cleveland Press. Dr. Mayo will appear in Lima Monday for addresses and a clinic.

The Press adds: "Dr. Mayo may understand how to separate folk from their tumors, gall stones, tubercular kidneys and such, with great skill, and profit, but he exhibits unexpected weakness when he prescribes his particular brand of reform for newspapers."

"Salvation indeed lies in the editor's giving the 'constructive' news impartially. But, believe us, he is often in agony over decision as to what is and what is not 'constructive.' Wise, wise beyond old Solomon himself, is the editor who can distinguish between the 'constructive' and the 'freak' in the practice of medicine."

"For instance, the 'constructive' theory once held by most doctors that the tomato always produced cancer. Or that other former 'fact' of medical knowledge to the effect that the giving of a drink of cold water to a fever patient was premeditated murder. Such theories and the gland, bone-breaking, vibratory, and other theories of today may be less 'constructive' than Surgeon Mayo's saw and lance, but who shall say, with the splendid progress in materia medica of these times even the great Mayo Institute at Rochester will not be listed among the 'freaks' 10 or 20 years hence?"

MAKE PENALTY SEVERE

A COUPLE of boy bandits shoot a policeman in an eastern city. A wise judge comments: "There should be a law making the person who sells a gun to a minor, thru the mails, responsible for any damage done. All these boy robbers got their guns thru the mails."

Why limit the sale only as regards minors? Youth then would do his pistol ordering thru older crooks. The real solution is to stop the sale of revolvers altogether. It would be effective if the penalty for possessing a pistol were stiff enough—say, 20 years, with no mush-hearted parole board to interfere.

COLLEGE MEN IN JAIL

SEVERN thousand college graduates are behind the bars in various institutions in America. This is learned by an investigator for John Hopkins University.

Before we allow ourselves to become amazed, we want a report on the many times greater number of college graduates who are NOT behind the bars. Its like the case of the college man who, winding up digging ditch, attracts more attention than 10,000 who don't. Too many general opinions are based on minority evidence.

"Save civilization from doom-doom-doom," says David Lloyd George, instead of Edgar Allan Poe.

BRYAN'S WEEKLY BIBLE TALK

"The Great Commission"

Text of Today's Bible Talk by Col. Bryan (Matt. 28:18-20; Acts 1:8-9)

Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee, into a mountain where Jesus had appointed them. And when they saw him, they worshipped him; but some doubted. And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth."

Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen.

When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel? And he said unto them, It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power. But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

The greatest commission ever issued to any organization in the world's history is to be found in the closing verses of the last chapter of Matthew.

The last words that the resurrected Christ spoke to his disciples in Galilee, whither they had gone "into a mountain where Jesus had appointed them," make up the Great Commission.

"And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, 'All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.'"

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

Supplementing the Great Commission, and emphasizing it, are the words of the Saviour to his disciples as set down in the first chapter of Acts—words spoken in answer to a question propounded by His disciples: "A question which indicated that even after His resurrection the disciples did not fully comprehend the spiritual nature of His kingdom."

They asked, "Wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?" His reply was, "It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power."

Their curiosity was about a matter which did not concern them, but while their question was not one that could be answered with propriety, the Saviour gave them information that did concern them, and which was of much greater importance. He informed them that they would receive power when the Holy Ghost came upon them and that they would then be His witnesses "both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth."

He had prepared them for the work unto which they were called, and now He was about to leave them. Others would bear hearsay testimony, but His disciples were to give the testimony of eyewitnesses.

Persecution scattered them into many places and the evidence which they gave by voice, by life, and by death has been carried far and wide. If "the uttermost part of the earth" has not yet been reached, it will be, for no earthly power can stay the spread of Christ's gospel.

"TO ALL NATIONS"

Rev. Robert F. Horton is quoted in Peloubet's Notes as saying that the missionary John Geddes, has been honored by the following epigraph in one of the islands of the Southern Seas:

"When he came in 1848 there was not a Christian; when he left in 1872, there was not a single heathen."

"So," adds Dr. Horton, "it will be said of this island planet in the ocean of the universe which was visited by the Divine Missionary. 'When He came, there was not a Christian in it; when he left it, there was not a heathen.'"

But to return to the Great Commission: It will be noticed that there are four superlative statements.

His disciples were sent out to teach "the nations," or as the Revised Version has it, "make disciples of all nations." Here we have an universal gospel—every human being. There is not living today anywhere a single man or woman who is beyond the reach of Christ's call. "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden," means just what it says, namely, ALL. No nation is excepted.

AN EXTRAORDINARY COMMAND

When we remember how many different shades of color there are and how various are the forms of government. It is not conceivable that anyone would dare to give such a commission if He were not possessed of a supernatural power and a vision that transcended human knowledge. Matthew could not be in error in recording these words because no one could have imagined any such claim to power and authority.

There were many religious teachers and many forms of religion, but Christ makes no distinction between them. In a few simple words He made a survey of mankind, grouped them into nations and families and confidently commissioned His disciples to convert them all, and to perform the sacred rite that symbolizes the washing away of sin and the purifying of the heart—"baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

WHAT TO TEACH

Having provided for the gathering of all the people of all the earth into His church, He proceeded to instruct His disciples as to what they were to say. They were to teach "them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you."

utterances and to eliminate such as do not conform to their judgment.

He gave the world a way by which forgiveness of sins may be secured: "By his stripes we are healed;" and He also gave a perfect code of morals applicable to every situation and to every day of our lives. He put in nothing that was unnecessary and, therefore, we cannot discard anything that He included.

A TELLING PROMISE

In reading these verses one is at a loss to know which sentence embodies the climax. It is difficult to conceive of anything more wonderful than an universal gospel and it is hard to imagine anything more important than the presentation of that gospel in its fullness and completeness. And yet what can be more thrilling than His promise to stand by His followers forever, their efforts throughout all the ages, however long they may be drawn out:

"Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world!"

Men rise and reign and pass away; nations are born, go thru a period of glory and die; civilizations wax and wane, but Jesus sheds a light undimmed by time and moves with majesty thru unfolding ages—the abiding strength of all who put their trust in Him. As the presence of a parent always the fears of a child, so the presence of Christ supplies the strength needed in hours of darkness and trial.

AT EVERY COUNCIL TABLE

Christ is not only the "silent guest" in every home that welcomes Him, but He sits at every council table where the welfare of man is under consideration. As He met every suggestion of Satan in the season of temptation by answering, "It is written," so we can find in His recorded words a solution for every problem that confronts us today or may arise hereafter.

But even the promise of His presence cannot surpass in the power to encourage the claims which He made to omnipotence: "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth."

It might seem sufficient for Christ to have all power on earth, where His followers are in daily conflict with "the world, the flesh, and the devil," but the present life is but a small part of the infinite circle of existence and Christ has the power to guarantee the rewards promised in the next world as well as the rewards promised in the present life.

Does the Christian church realize the power that is back of it? It has faith in God's power—the infinite power of a Creator. It has faith in the power of its crucified and risen Saviour. But does it realize that all power in heaven and in earth is available for the protection of God's children and for the establishment of righteousness in the world?

"O YE OF LITTLE FAITH"

Christ often rebuked those of His day with the phrase, "O ye of little faith," what language would He employ if He were here today and administered a rebuke?

The church is the greatest organization we have and is our only hope in the securing of moral reforms. The church was the outstanding influence in the securing of national prohibition; it exerted moral influence in the securing of the bringing of woman suffrage, which will in turn be felt in the settlement of every important question in all the future.

The church has expended its energy with great effect in advancing the cause of international peace, and recently it has secured a reduction in the hours of labor (from twelve to eight) for the employees of the greatest corporation in the nation.

When we examine what the church has done and is doing the work seems very large, but it is small in comparison with the work which needs to be done and which could be done if all who profess Christ's name applied His teachings to their lives.

The lesson may be summed up in a sentence: Christ for all and for ever—"the way, the truth, and the life."

AMERICAN TURF CLASSIC TO BE DECIDED AT LOUISVILLE

Burdette's Gridders Clash With Upstate Team On South Field This Afternoon

SNAPPY SPORTS

Weather permitting the racing program at New Cranwood will end Saturday.

Tony Zill, Youngstown lightweight will meet Jimmy Dalton, at Fort Wayne, Monday night.

Knute Rockne, has changed his mind about preparing the Army team for its game against the Navy. He will try to whip the soldier boys into shape. He will take charge Monday, according to Capt. J. J. McEwan.

Meetings of the Three I and Western leagues will be held in Chicago December 11 and 12, according to Pres. A. R. Tetzmar's call.

Gene Tunney, light heavyweight champ, is the first one to make good his pledge to the state athletic commission, that he for one is ready to give any official contender a chance at the title. He did take on Harry Greb, after M'Tigue backed out.

The international cup race rumor will not down. The French are after the event with representatives from this country, England, France, Belgium, Spain and Italy next May, for a purse of 1,000,000 francs. It ought to be interesting if it is ever put over.

Johnny Darcy, of New York, will meet Andy Chaney in one of the star ten round bouts, before the Arena, in St. Louis, November 27. This should be a clever mixup.

South Hi Will Struggle Against Canton McKinley With Many Shifts In Line

Another change, and a radical one at that, has again been made in the lineup of the South football team which will meet Canton McKinley Hi at South Field this afternoon. The shift has been made due to the injury of Throckmorton, who will be out with several injuries which were received in the Bluffton game last week.

Barthold, substitute halfback, has been sent to quarter in the place of Thomas, who will be shifted to his old job at halfback, thus filling up the big gap left by Throckmorton's absence. This is the only change that has been made in the backfield, but the line also has been radically re-arranged. Rutledge, the ill-starred center who has been injured in every game in which he has played this season, will again try his luck after recuperating from the many injuries he has received. By his return to center, Waggoner, who has held that job for the last two games, will be sent to tackle, replacing Metcalf in that position. The players get together behind the line and have a little "teaparty" and thus each one knows what the play is and where it is going, thus doing away with possible changes of mistaken signals. Instead of shouldering the responsibility of each play on the quarterback as is generally the case, Smith, right half, is the mentor of each play and it is he who directs the team.

South will again use the silent formation. It proved to advantage at Bluffton last Saturday and Coach Burdette believes it will be useful against Canton this afternoon. The players get together behind the line and have a little "teaparty" and thus each one knows what the play is and where it is going, thus doing away with possible changes of mistaken signals. Instead of shouldering the responsibility of each play on the quarterback as is generally the case, Smith, right half, is the mentor of each play and it is he who directs the team.

Last year South lost to Canton 12-6, but the Blue and Gold had the oval within a few feet of the Canton goal when play ended.

CENTRAL TO DEFIANCE
The Central contingent of rooters left at noon on a special car for Defiance, where the Red and Green meet the Blue and White of Defiance Hi in a game which will probably be added to the win side of Central's column.

All the players were in tip-top condition for the battle with the exception of Michael, the scrappy quarterback, who will be handicapped with a sprained ankle. He will play, however.

This game will furnish Lima fans with a little hope as to the outcome of the South-Central clash on Turkey Day. Defiance won over South via the forfeit route after each team had made one touchdown. Should Central win this game, they will have a slight edge on the South eleven.

RESERVES TO WAPAK
The Central reserves, under Cree Swisher's guidance, journeyed to Wapak where they will play Wapak Hi. Last year Wapak smothered them 33-0, but the reserves this year are much stronger than they were last season. So they are out for revenge and a win.

OHIO STATE-CHICAGO
CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — The Ohio State-Chicago football game here apparently has lost but little interest thru earlier defeats for each team. Indications are as many spectators will crowd Stagg Field as if the contest figured in the Western Conference championship.

Ohio State is expected to rely largely upon an aerial game and the Maroon's practice this week has indicated an attack of open field running, passing and intricate work behind the line.

A meeting of the deans prior to the game will decide eligibility of Harry Thomas, star Chicago halfback who has been out because of scholastic deficiencies.

A special train this morning brought more than 3,000 Ohio State rooters.

The probable lineup:

Knute Rockne The Gridiron Magician

Every Football Machine Has Its Spark
Notre Dame Plays as if Inspired
Winner Must Have Speed and Surprise

"An automobile doesn't get anywhere unless it has a fast hot spark to ignite things and set the cogs of the machine in motion," says Rockne. "A football machine is not unlike an automobile—it must have its sparks, often it is well to have several of them."

"I try to make every player on my team, from the star to the lowly sub, feel that he is the spark that is helping keep the machine in motion. I do this because when I send a new player into the game I want him to feel that upon his playing depends the continued success of the team in that particular game and the season as a whole."

After once seeing the Notre Dame eleven in action it is an easy matter to see that Rockne has been successful in his efforts. Every player on the Notre Dame team is known as the "Fighting Irish." In a way that title is a bit of a misnomer, since there are many players in the squad who have no Celtic blood in their veins.

After watching one practice session, it is an easy matter to see who produces the many sparks that flicker on the Notre Dame squad. The sparks are the offspring of Notre Dame's football dynamo, Coach Knute K. Rockne.

There may be other coaches who know as much football as Rockne, but none more. There may be other coaches as dynamic in personality, but it is questionable if there is a single coach in the country who is able to instill his personality and football knowledge into a team as does Knute Rockne.

Rockne dominates from the moment he steps on the field. A keen analyst, with an ever-watchful eye, he quickly discerns the slightest flaws and always has a remedy. Faultless play does not pass unnoticed. It is this spirit of fairness which makes the players take every correction with a grim smile and a determination to remedy the defect. Praised is intermingled with reproof and both are given in a manner that carries weight. Rockne dominates the Notre Dame squad in the same manner that McGraw holds sway over the New York Giants.

REMINISCENCES OF AN OLD TIME BALLPLAYER

By "Lefty Shields"

In this installment "Lefty" tells the secret of frozen baseballs and the advantage to be gained by the club using them. It is respectfully suggested that Branch Rickey, or Clark Griffith or even Conny Mack look into the secret. "Lefty" is giving to the world gratis; because he is highly enthusiastic in every single particular that concerns the great national game.

Know we are at Brownsville The Manager of the Brownsville came to Me And told me that the people of the town was going to declare a holiday tomorrow to see our club play the Wild Cat ball club every man of the wild cats was terrific home runs hitters 100 of people told me that I have a hard club to beat to morrow I said leave it to me I will win the right field fence was a full short and 5 of their best hitters was left handed the manager and the captain of our club got a hold of me that night and told me that their where a little scared that I could not hold them down I said leave it to me I told the captain in promise of the manager got 2 dozens of ball put them in a ice Manufacture plant and freeze them that night he did the next day.

Our club came upon the field and we look like a million dollars team when we took the base balls out of the box their where cold the wild cats was not wiae to it we went a long up until the 8 inning the score was 3 to 1 in favor of the cats and in the ending if the inning I got hold of a fly ball we had 2 men on 2 out out catcher hit in to the center field bleachers for a home run scoring to men and himself the crowd swamp the fields the game was held up for 15 minutes know the 9 inning the cats at the bat for the last time first batter foul out scored better struck out third batter hit to first out game won 3 to 2 in our favor.

team by at least 10 pounds to the man, and it was thru their line plunging that they were able to put their scores across.

The feature of the game was a 60 yard run in the last few minutes of play by George Boers, diminutive quarterback for Kenton Hi, who intercepted an Ada forward pass and slipped and wiggled thru the entire Ada team for the only touchdown. Kenton made. The game was played on a wet and muddy field and a fine drizzle which fell thruout the game made it very hard for a runner to get away.

The lineup:
Kenton: Sells, re; Hites, rt; Cole, rg; Hanna, c; Hodge, lg; Shith, lt; Faulkner, lb; Carter, (c) lb; Houses, rb; Hassel, rb; Bowers, qb.
Ada: Judkins, re; Polling, rt; Anspach, rg; Long, R. c; Klingler, E. lg; Doerman, (c) lt; Klingler, J. lb; Long, L. rb; Baum, lb; Campbell, lb; Brechelsen, qb.

Zev Will Try To Retrieve Honors Lost to In Memoriam At Churchill Downs Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (Associated Press)—Zev, the greatest money winner in the history of America turf, races today on the historic Churchill Downs course, meeting In Memoriam, his conqueror of two weeks ago, in a match race at a mile and one quarter that will live long in the records of racing.

Zev, winner of the Kentucky Derby and conqueror of Papyrus, will go to the post carrying the hopes of his admirers to blot out that surprising victory in Memoriam scored over him in the Latonia championship stakes, his first defeat in nine races since capturing the Derby. The turf experts predict he probably will be a 3 to 5 favorite while In Memoriam, the proud bearer of the hopes of Kentucky, is expected to carry odds around 8 to 5.

Not only will Zev have an opportunity to wipe out the defeat scored by In Memoriam, but he also will have the chance of emerging from the race, if victorious, the greatest money winning race horse in the world. By defeating In Memoriam, and winning $25,000 of today's $30,000 stake, Zev's total winnings would become $301,073, passing the marks of the two English crack, Istafias, with $291,275 and Donovan, with $277,215.

EXPERTS LIKE ZEV
After weighing the past performances of both horses, many turf experts figure that Zev is faster than In Memoriam at all stages of the mile and a quarter route and should win handily. Backers of the Weidemann colt answer this argument by pointing to the best time in which the entries have negotiated the distance of the contest. Zev covered the mile and a quarter route in 2:05 2-5 to win the Kentucky Derby, a mark that stands as his best effort for ten furlongs. In Memoriam has a mile and a quarter in 2:04 1-5 to his credit, made in winning the Illinois Derby in Chicago last summer.

Today's race, aside from a contest between America's two greatest three year olds, will be a personal battle of good judgment between Earl Sande, proclaimed the greatest jockey since Tod Sloan, and Mack Garner, the pride of Kentucky's tracks. Sande astride Zev when defeated in the Latonia race, felt the sting of defeat more keenly than did Harry F. Sinclair, owner of the horse. Garner has confided to his admirers that if he engages Sande in a close stretch battle he will not be satisfied to finish second.

COLD IN LOUISVILLE
Altho Louisville is shivering under the stab of a chilling November wind, with threatening overcast skies, the race will be decided with the prospects of a 40,000 attendance, according to the estimate of Colonel Matt J. Wynn, general manager of the Kentucky Jockey Club.

Both Zev and In Memoriam were scheduled for a light limbering up galloping this morning before being returned to their barns to await the call of the bugle. Each worked a half mile yesterday, In Memoriam stepping the distance in :48 3-5, while Zev covered the four furlongs in :47 3-5.

The interest in the Zev-In Memoriam race was further aroused with the announcement that officers of

Get the Full Story of this Show Window Lighting Test

It Showed This Amazing Result—

Originally, the windows where the test was made, were lighted just about like the average of the neighboring stores. By making them six times as bright as they were, 42% more passersby were attracted and stopped to look at the merchandise displayed.

—and the Additional Cost for Lighting Was Only Ten Cents an Hour!

The test referred to, which was conducted at the Cleveland store of Oppenheim, Collins & Company provides a definite measure of the value of more light for every merchant who desires to increase the drawing power of show windows.

Relatively few merchants realize what amazing results they can obtain in their own stores by using more light than they have heretofore considered enough.

The test referred to here is described with full details in a book called "Building Profit With Light." You ought to read the full story of this test, because you can do the same thing and get a similar result in your own store.
